

KEVIN FINCH

Mr. Kevin Finch is an Economist by profession with over 15 years of experience. He holds a Bachelor's of Science degree in Economics from the University of the West Indies, an MBA from Edinburgh Business School, an ACCA postgraduate diploma in Financial Management and is currently pursuing a doctoral programme in Governance at the University of the West Indies.

His professional experience began in the insurance industry, serving in areas such as pension fund administration and investment management. Mr. Finch has been employed as an Economist at the Central Bank of Trinidad and Tobago since 2003. Most of his tenure has been with the Research and Policy department where his responsibilities cover macroeconomic diagnostics, applied research and policy formulation. As part of the Research management team, his current functions span monetary policy, financial stability and the Central Bank's international relations.

Mr. Finch has also functioned in other capacities such as, Technical Assistant to the Governor and a three-year sojourn as representative for Trinidad and Tobago and Senior Advisor to the Executive Director at the International Monetary Fund. In addition, Mr. Finch serves as Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Central Bank Employees' Savings Plan.
