

I was born and continue to live in Trinidad & Tobago.

My educational achievements include:

- MBA with a specialization in Strategic Planning, from the Edinburgh Business School, Heriot Watt University, United Kingdom
- Certified Mediator with the Mediation Board of Trinidad and Tobago.

I also attended many training courses including:

- Change Management – Prosci Canada
- Effective Personal Productivity - Leadership Management (LMI) International, U.S.A.
- Executive Leadership – American Management Association, U.S.A.

I am currently pursuing a Doctor of Management in Organisational Leadership with the University of Phoenix, Arizona, U.S.A. My dissertation topic focuses on leadership in the global environment, specifically how local leaders respond to conflict situations that arise in the multinational investor relationship.

I served in the Public Sector, State Enterprise Sector (a combination of public and Private Sector for a combined total of forty years, mainly in the financial services sector which include banking and insurance.

I have successfully led diverse teams e.g. administrative, technical and middle managers, meeting and even bypassing assigned targets in business and other areas. I have sat on and led various committees that were organization related exercises, including a restructuring and an acquisition by a multinational.

My appointment as Chairman of the Board of the Trinidad & Tobago Postal Corporation effective July 2016, gives me the opportunity to experience first-hand the challenges that organisations face in this modern environment. TTPost is facing myriad challenges, some due to the change in technology, specifically the internet, social media and email, resulting in declining demand for paper mail. I see my responsibility as leading a team of professionals in a direction where TTPost can capitalize on the opportunities that the industry has created, becoming a model for organizational change response in Trinidad and Tobago.
